ST MARY'S GUARLFORD

SOME EXHIBITS IN NATIVITY 25

Rev'd Gary put this Lego model of the Nativity scene in the Nativity 25 exhibition at St Mary's Guarlford.

There was a competition.

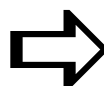

Guess how long it took Gary to construct the scene and how many pieces of Lego did he use?

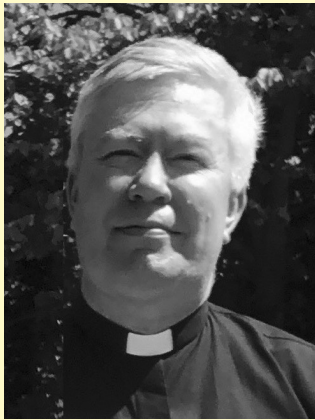

Andrew Metcalf won the prize with his guess of 1400 pieces and 5 hours, which Gary says was nearly spot on.

Well done Andrew and jolly well done Gary.

Gary sporting the Guarlford Lego Masters' (Nativity 25) hat. How many pieces do you think there and how long did it take to build.?

Vicar's Letter for February 2026

Dear Friends,

As we journey in this 'Bleak Mid Winter' into February, there is a real sense of change in the air. Snowdrops are beginning to break through the hard ground – quiet but determined signs that winter does not have the final word. They remind us that new life often begins unseen, beneath the surface, waiting for the right moment to emerge.

Recently, many of us rejoiced in the splendid and inspiring service at Worcester Cathedral celebrating the arrival of Bishop Hugh as the 114th Bishop of Worcester. It was a joyful occasion, rich in prayer and hope, reminding us that the Church is continually renewed as God calls new people to lead and serve. We pray for Bishop Hugh as he begins his ministry among us.

You can't have missed being bombarded by holiday advertisements since Christmas, especially on television. Maybe, like me, you're getting quite good at hitting the mute button when those adverts interrupt our viewing! This seems to be the time of year when many people begin planning and booking holidays or day trips, and to ram that home, I have even received my lovely parishes' administrator's list of holiday dates for the year too. So, that got me thinking – perhaps I need to do mine. If anyone has any recommendations for a weekend or city break to Florence, do let me know! Perhaps it's the depths of the darkest winter combined with the lure of summer sunshine, or simply the need to have something special to look forward to that spurs us on to make such decisions. With half term approaching too, that is something I am holding on and looking forward to. So, have you booked your holidays for 2025 yet, or are you more of a last-minute, spur-of-the-moment person? The familiar phrase 'a change is as good as a rest' reminds us that stepping away from routine can refresh and re-invigorate us, offering a much-needed pause. Even if you can't, for whatever reason, get away, maybe changing your routine or creating space in your life will be rest enough. Hopefully this message stirs up memories of holidays past – places visited, laughter shared, and precious time spent with loved ones.

As Lent begins on Ash Wednesday on the 18th February, we are invited to think more deeply about rest, rhythm, and renewal. Rest is not an optional extra; it is a gift given by God and woven into the very fabric of creation. Bare frosted fields, leafless trees, hibernating animals, and migrating birds all bear witness to seasons of rest and renewal. Many of us know what happens when we try to keep going without pause – eventually our bodies, minds, and spirits tell us to stop. Sometimes very suddenly.

Lent offers us a holy pause. How are those New Year's resolutions holding up? Perhaps they are flourishing; perhaps they have quietly faded. Lent is not about guilt, but about grace – an invitation to lay down what weighs us down and to take up practices that draw us closer to God and one another.

May this coming Spring and embedded Lent be a season of gentle renewal, helping us to rest in God's love and to grow in faith as we journey together towards Easter.

Rev Gary

Newland News 28

We started the new year with a flurry of snowflakes in the sunshine. None of the snow stopped long but it seems very traditional for our weather. No chance of a snowman this time around.

Climate change is a reality it seems, but I remember a bad period of snow and ice in the late 80s early 90s when it was so cold the water in the diesel froze and the buses stopped running and the trains were also cancelled. Hopefully that will not happen again.

The Christmas season is always like two parts: the advent season in church celebrating the birth of our Lord and the commercial where decorations, food and presents are pushed at us relentlessly.

The flurry of snowflakes lay in sunshine on the hills.

It's astonishing to think that, the other side of these trees, traffic blocks up the road at the approach to the roundabout.

A nice bit of sunshine streaming through Mum's living room warming the room and improving the day is always welcome.

Interesting news: the government intends to make it a condition of renewing your driving licence after 70 that you have an eye test, good thing/bad thing? Time will tell if it even makes it to law.

The Parish council is trying to get the bus shelters replaced; hopefully this will happen soon.

I noticed that a lot of shops and businesses were closed between Christmas and New Year. I was so pleased that people got a bit more of a rest but I did not appreciate the extra traffic blocking up the road here at Newland where the traffic island never seems to cope well.

We look forward to a new year of events and opportunities and looking forward seems the way to go. New routines and new year resolutions. I have given up on making new year resolutions as I have only ever kept two over all the years - both very personal and good for me.

GUARLFORD WI News 2025 / 2026

As 2025 was drawing to a close, we did not have speakers at our W.I meetings.

In November we had our annual general meeting, where committee members for next year were decided, and in December we gathered together for a social evening of food, drinks, and chat, which was most enjoyable. At that meeting our members did discuss which resolution we should choose, from a shortlist given by national organisation, all of them deserving of help, and there was a majority for supporting action on women's homelessness.

Also in December one of our members hosted a pre Christmas afternoon get-together at her home for members and their partners. A delicious home-made buffet lunch and puds were enjoyed by us all, and catching up with friends for a chat this ensured that we felt the Christmas celebrations had well and truly begun.
